The building had its contents well insured. When the family awoke the room was full of smoke and the occupants had a very narrow escape. The building was partially covered by insurance and Mr. Luckett had a policy of $200 on his furniture. While the fire department was engaged at this fire another alarm was turned in from North Virginia street. This building belonged to Judge J. L. Dagg, and was occupied by Mr. J. Greer, Jr. Mr. Greer was alone in the building. The fire, together with nearly all of its contents were burned. Judge Dagg had $400 insurance on the building. It is not known how either fire originated.

QUITS IN DISGUST.

Judge Black Declines to Run for Governor.

Not in Common With Machine Politics, Such as Seems to Obtain in These Times.

Democrats of Kentucky; Several months ago I made known to many of you my intention to ask you to make me your party candidate for governor, to be voted for at the November, 1903, election. Since then conditions which I did not foresee have arisen and somewhat changed my plans as well as my wishes. This section of the State has recently been given a stimulus which promises the immediate and continuing development of its immense natural wealth. To a profession which I have followed for years, and which has not been to me ungenial, not entirely unremunerative, there have been, by reason of the conditions referred to, added—I may be pardoned for saying—increased opportunities and prospects to myself. The abandonment of these at this time, for the more, to say, ungenial and uncertain pursuit of politics, would be a sacrifice greater than I feel I should make. Because of these conditions and the additional fact that I had become disgusted with the methods of modern politics, I, more than two months ago, determined to announce to you my disqualification to enter any contest for the nomination. This fact I at this time made known to a few of my intimate friends and neighbors, I had determined to take this course before the State primary had been called, and when I believed a primary would not be called. There has not been a moment when I would have preferred a convention to a primary. I am not one of those who have been the beneficiaries of "dark lantern methods" in politics, or out of politics. I have never known or tried to learn or engage in such questionable tactics. And the recent disparagement of these methods by some who may not have been entirely exempt from their employment in the past may, I believe, furnish some evidence that the people demand, for the future, purer politics than they have been given in the past. I have always felt that if I was not the people's choice for any position I might seek, I would willingly submit. In a free government the decision of the majority should be accepted. I have never doubted the plain people. But they, like myself, have never had much in common with machine politics, such as seem to obtain in these times.

Had I gone through a contest for the nomination I do not greatly doubt the result, if the untrammeled will of the plain people had been fairly recorded. But I have never believed my candidacy for the nomination for Governor would be fairly treated, whether in convention or primary. And this is not so much because of prejudice against me as an individual citizen and Democrat as individuality against the people, including myself, in this section of the State, upon the part of certain elements of our population elsewhere. For many who are no better by nature or in practice than the people here have, in their own arrogance, already outlived us. The Democrats of this section have never received recognition at the hands of the party elsewhere in the State except when we have with all our power been engaged in electing candidates who chanced to reside elsewhere. And, because of this outlook, a Democrat here has a hard road to travel to reach endorsement by his party elsewhere.

The past and the present also have made a Democrat in this section a hard road to travel to reach endorsement by his party elsewhere.

M. D. KELLY, Hopkinsville, Ky.

is politically, many so-called Democrats elsewhere say nothing good can come to the party by nominating on the State ticket a Democrat resident of this district.

All these things I have heard said about us up here in the mountains. I should prefer that my candidacy should not thus be handicapped, but if it were otherwise I would not for the reason first stated, be a candidate.

I am constantly receiving letters from friends who are partial to wards me, and for whom I have the profound respect and whose friendship I value beyond my powers to express, urging me to be a candidate, and it is for this reason that I have the public announcement of my withdrawal from consideration.

The Commoner.

The Commoner, Mr. Bryan's paper, will be especially interesting and instructive during the present session of congress. The action of this congress will probably determine the issues upon which the next presidential campaign will be fought. The Commoner proposes to carry on a campaign of education and organization to the end that Democratic principles may triumph.

In addition to the editorial department, which receives Mr. Bryan's personal attention, The Commoner contains a Current Topics department, wherein a non-partisan discussion of topics of timely interest and other valuable information will be found. The Home Department is conducted by an experienced woman who is widely known as a writer of household topics and who is an authority on the art of cooking to all that the term implies.

This department alone is worth the subscription price. The other departments of the paper are all interesting and ably conducted, among which is a summary of the world's news told in narrative style, and Mr. Maupin's department—whether common or not—contains original anecdotes and wit, moral lessons in homely phrase and verse, and appeals to old and young alike.

The Commoner is a whole is clean, entertaining and instructive, and its rapid increase in circulation—now amounting to 140,000—is proof of the paper's strength and influence.

Arrangements have been made with Mr. Bryan whereby The Commoner can be supplied at a very low rate with the Kentuckian, both papers for one year for $2.75. This offer applies to both new and renewal subscriptions, and should be taken advantage of without delay. All orders should be sent to the Kentuckian office.

INFERIOR CORN.

Causing Death of Stock in This Section.

A number of cases of blind staggers among horses and mules, supposed to be caused from eating rotten corn, is reported in this section.

This year's corn crop is said to be of an unusually inferior quality and much of it is unfit for use at all.

Dr. Compton preached three weeks in the new building, the handsomest of any denomination in the South. At times two thousand people, the pick of Louisville, attended the meetings to hear Dr. Compton's great revival sermons. # SOCIETY WOMEN

As Well as the Housewife and Professional Women Endorse Pe-ru-na as a Specific for Winter Diseases.

MISS BLANCHE MYERS.

A SOCIETY LADY'S LETTER.

Miss Blanche Myers, 3123 Penn street, Kansas City, Mo., a prominent young society woman of that place, has the following to say of Peru-na:

"During each of the past four seasons I have caught a severe cold, when suddenly chilled after an evening party, and catarrh for several weeks would be the result. One bottle of Peru-na cured me, and I shall not dread colds any more as I did!"—BLANCHE MYERS.

HOME TREATMENT FREE.

Catarrh Cures by Thousands Under Dr. Hartman's Free Treatment. Catarrh of the nose and head produces discharge from the nose, sneezing, and pain in the eyes and forehead, weak, and sometimes watery eyes, and occasional loss of memory.

Unless something is done to prevent the catarrh will follow the mucous membrane into the lungs when it will be followed by cough, night sweats, rapid loss of flesh, and the other dread symptoms of consumption.

To all such people Dr. Hartman's treatment comes as a great boon. It is only necessary to send name and address to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., and complete directions for the first month's treatment will be sent free.

Not only is it more successful in curing catarrh than the treatment of ear-nose specialists, but it is in the reach of every person in this land.

A medicine which is the principal part of Dr. Hartman's treatment, known as Peru-na, can be bought at any drug store, and is a remedy without equal for catarrh in all forms, coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption, and all climatic diseases of winter. Each bottle is accompanied with complete directions for use.

Address The Peru-na Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, for a copy of their latest catarrh book, instructively illustrated, and contains 64 pages of the latest information on catarrhal disease. Sent free to any address.

A Housewife Who Suffered 25 Years.

Mrs. Ella Schwanitz, Sanborn, Minn., writes:

"I have been troubled with catarrh for twenty-five years. Could not sleep day or night. After having used Peru-na I can sleep and nothing bothers me now."—Mrs. Ella Schwanitz.

Mrs. Jennie Cable, Spokane, Wash., writes:

"After suffering for twenty-one years with neuralgia, caused by catarrh of head, I tried all doctors and all kinds of medicine, resulting no benefit. I became discouraged and worn out at last. My mother wrote me to take Dr. Hartman's medicine, so I did, but my case was a chronic one, and I was also in the change of life. Through the use of Peru-na and Mannin I am now entirely well."

"When I began taking your medicine I only weighed 61 pounds; now I weigh 110. I have not taken a drop of medicine for seven months, and would advise all sufferers to consult Dr. Hartman. The neuralgia attacked my head and eyes, and for the first year seemed to be in my breast and between my shoulder blades."—Mrs. Jennie Cable.

"If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis."

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

"THE ELEVENTH HOUR"

To be Presented at Opera House Jan. 7.

"The Eleventh Hour" which will appear at Holland's Opera House Wednesday Jan. 7, is one of the most complete travelling companies on the road, carrying all their own special scenery which was designed and painted by Messrs. DuBoulet and Mann of Chicago, the well known scenic artists, one scene alone costing $5,000 being a reproduction of the magnificent drawing room of a Chicago Millionaire.

To get as near the original as possible, photos were taken, by the permission of the owner, and thus all details were copied, even to the bric a brac and interior furnishings of every description. The play has met with great success in other cities and will no doubt prove a pleasant entertainment here.

CUT HIS MAN.

Speigel Bourland Slashes a Negro Across the Throat.

Speigel Bourland got into a wrangle with Will Gilchrist, a colored man from Earlington, in front of C. E. Owen's hardware store, and in the road slashed him across the throat with a knife and also one of his hands.

Speigel has been in the asylum at Hopkinsville on account of his mental condition, but was out on three months parole, and upon the trouble being communicated to Superintendent Ray he directed that the sheriff return him, which was done.—Madisonville Hustler.

Best Liniment on Earth.

Henry D. Baldwin, Supt. City Water Works, Shulburg, Wis. writes: "I have tried many kinds of liniment, but have never received such benefit until I used Ballard's Snow Liniment for rheumatism and pains. I think it the best liniment on earth." 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottle at R. C. Hardwick's.

Remarkable Cure of Croup.

A LITTLE BOY'S LIFE SAVED.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. B. Steere of Godwin S. D. and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—JOHN DEMONT, Jr., Iowa, for sale by C. K. Wylly.

A RESOLUTION.

MAKE IT WORKING.

My brother Lemuel married Mehltable Pierce when he was twenty, five years ago. Nobody thought he'd ever get married at all, any more than my brother, Reuben, and I, the three had lived together and kept bachelor's hall ever since our mother died. I was married and would have done long before she died. I didn't know how they would get along at first, but all of the boys had been used to her in a good deal, and they were real handy, and when I asked if they wasn't going to have a house-keeper, they wouldn't hear to it. They said they wasn't going to have no strange woman round in his place, now. So Silas he took hold and did the washing and the pie-baking. My husband said so, and I had to give in to it.

Well, they seemed to get on so nice, and none of 'em had ever seemed to think much about the girls, not even when they was boys, that I must say I was astonished when Lemuel he up and got married to Mehltable Pierce. She was a little along in years, too, rather more so than Lemuel, and a dreadful smart piece. She was good looking and had property, but she was dreadful smart and up and coming. I could never see how Lemuel got the courage to ask her to have him, he was always a kind of mild spoken little fellow. Reuben he declared he didn't. He vowed that Mehltable arked him hardest, and he said it for a fact, and he said it with the tears rollin' down his cheeks. Reuben was the oldest, and he'd always been terrible fond of Lemuel. "That poor boy would never have got in such a fix of that woman hadn't you" asked him, and he didn't have no strength so he said, "I'm sick, and he swallowed hard."

Mehltable had a nice house of her own that her father left her, all furnished and everything, so of course Lemuel he went to live with her, and Mehltable's house was pretty near where I lived. I could see every thing that was goin' on. It wasn't very long before I said to Hannah Moore, my husband's old maid sister that lives with us and teaches school, that I believed Lemuel was benighted, though I hadn't anything against Mehltable.

"I don't see what else anybody that married Mehltable Pierce would expect," said Hannah. She spoke real sharp for her. "You always know what you want, and you know what you want, and you know it for a fact, and he said it with the tears rollin' down his cheeks. Reuben was the oldest, and he'd always been terrible fond of Lemuel. "That poor boy would never have got in such a fix of that woman hadn't you" asked him, and he didn't have no strength so he said, "I'm sick, and he swallowed hard."
